

Intern/Working Student Interior Design

Payworks provides a next generation Point of Sale payment gateway technology. With Payworks' technology, developers of Point of Sale solutions for merchants can quickly and cost-efficiently integrate card payment functionality into their applications, and securely process EMV, contactless and mobile wallet transactions at the Point of Sale.

What you will do...

- Execute a complete office remodel from concept to implementation
- Create an office design that brings forth our brand and promotes a creative work environment
- Allocate the budget and make sure you stay within plan
- Coordinate, hire, and maintain all on-going projects and contractors
- Collaborate with internal teams in order to transform their needs into an exciting, yet functional design

What we are looking for...

- Student or recent graduate in an Interior Design or Architecture program with 2 - 3 months' time to join us for this project
- A creative and innovative thinker
- A person that can
 - Comfortably negotiate and discuss the project in German and in English
 - Effectively create and show designs in a 3D software or other tool
 - Drive the project with the help of office management
 - Manage time effectively

What we offer...

- The dynamics and fun of working in a quickly growing start-up, combined with a stable financial outlook backed by a multi-million Euro venture capital investment
- Flexible working hours (this role can be structured as a full-time internship or part-time working student position) and competitive compensation
- An exciting project where you will be the sole owner and the chance to leave a lasting impact on a fast-growing start-up
- A fun, multicultural team in a dynamic environment
